Bureau International des Containers et du Transport Intermodal

INTRODUCTION

A container is a transportation equipment of value. Its life time may easily reach 15 years. Its use has made possible to rationalize transportation of goods with the result that their transfer from one means of transportation to another has been speeded up. For this reason and also for others such as fraud prevention, interchange control and rating, the identification of a container is of utmost importance at any stage of the distribution chain: delivery to shipper, delivery to carrier, delivery to consignee, contract of carriage, transfer from one carrier to another, customs formalities (export, transit, import), customs temporary admission, customs sealing, insurance, transport manifesting, claim settlement, maintenance and repair, loss, etc.

As there are several means of identifying containers and in order to avoid confusion from the great variety of markings, the Bureau International des Containers has grouped the available data into a single document, the BIC-Code. Originally dedicated to the publication of ISO alpha codes for container owners, the BIC-Code now comprises documentation related to:
- the Customs Convention on Containers,
- the Istanbul Convention,
- the International Convention for Safe Containers,
- the Customs Convention on international movement of goods under cover of TIR carnets,
- the International Organization for Standardization (ISO),which all provide for a specific marking as shown below,
- various other markings also result from National regulations, dangerous goods regulations and National Standard Institutes.

1. INTERNATIONAL CUSTOMS CONVENTIONS

Two major Conventions set forth the customs rules which regulates the circulation and use of ISO and non-ISO containers worldwide:
- the Customs Convention on Containers (1972) which deals with temporary admission and transport under customs seal,
- the Istanbul Convention (1993) which deals with temporary admission.

It must be noted that the Istanbul Convention supersedes the Customs Convention for Containers in the case where the two conventions have been ratified by a Contracting Party.

1.0. Customs Convention on Containers (CCC)

The Customs Convention on Containers (1972 - effective since 6 December 1975) grants, under certain conditions, temporary admission facilities to containers, loaded or not, which are due to be re-exported within three months from the date of importation. This period may be extended upon request.
The Convention is applicable in the following countries:

Algeria	Georgia	Romania
Armenia	Greece	Russian Federation
Australia	Hungary	Saudi Arabia
Austria	Indonesia	Serbia
Azerbaijan	Kazakhstan	Slovakia
Belarus	Kyrgyzstan	Spain
Bulgaria	Liberia	Switzerland
Burundi	Lithuania	Trinidad and Tobago
Canada	Montenegro	Tunisia
China	Morocco	Turkey
Cuba	New Zealand	Ukraine
Czech Republic	Poland	United States of America
Finland	Republic of Korea	Uzbekistan

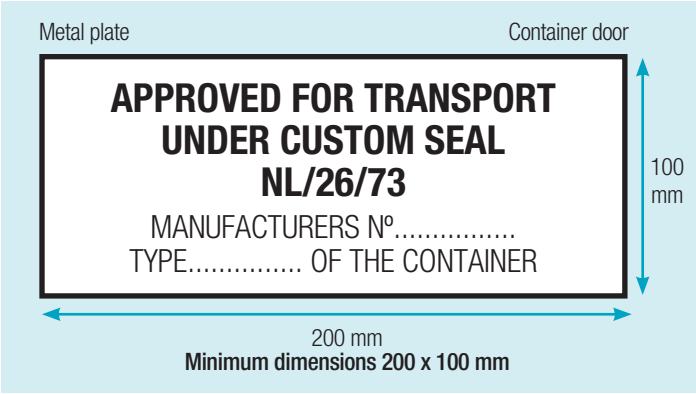
1.1. Approval for transport under customs seal

Enforced in the Customs Convention on Containers, the agreement for transport under Customs seal is granted only to containers approved by the competent authority of the country of manufacture. The purpose of the approval is to certify that the container is constructed and equipped in such a manner that:

a) no goods can be removed from, or introduced into, its sealed part without leaving visible traces of tampering or without breaking the customs seal,
b) it contains no concealed spaces where goods could be hidden,
c) all spaces capable of holding good are readily accessible for customs inspection,
d) customs seals can be simply and effectively affixed to it.
Where the containers are manufactured by type series, the manufacturer may apply for approval by design type. In such case, he shall state in his application the identification numbers or letters which he assigns to the type of containers to which his application for approval relates to.
It is recommended in such case to use the ISO type identification code described in section 5.2.2.A and B.

1.2. Customs approval plate

The beneficiary of the approval shall affix the approval plate described hereafter to the approved container before its use for the transport of goods under customs seal.
The plate shall be permanently affixed in a clearly visible place adjacent to any other approval plate issued for official purpose (see introduction).
The Customs Convention on Containers also stipulates in Annex 1 that the following data must be durably marked on containers:
a) the identification of the owner or principal operator as per the ISO alpha code (ISO 6346) (see section 5.2 and 8),
b) the identification number of the container given by the owner or operator,
c) the tare weight of the container, including all permanently fixed equipment.



1.3. Istanbul Convention

The Convention on Temporary Admission (Istanbul, 26.6.1990) is intended to apply to the international transport of goods in containers and in other transport units such as road vehicles, railway wagons, inland waterways vessels, barges, etc. and permits to avoid, under certain conditions:
- payment or deposit of import duties at the customs office of departure or at offices en route,
- customs examination at offices en route,
- customs transit formalities like those laid down in the ITI convention.

The Convention is applicable in the following countries:

Albania	Hong Kong, China	Portugal
Algeria	Hungary	Romania
Andorra	Indonesia	Russian Federation
Australia	Ireland	Saudi Arabia
Austria	Israel	Serbia
Belarus	Italy	Slovakia
Belgium	Jordan	Slovenia
Bosnia and Herzegovina	Latvia	South Africa
Brazil	Lithuania	Spain
Bulgaria	Luxembourg	Sudan
Chili	Madagascar	Sweden
China	Mali	Switzerland
Croatia	Malta	Tajikistan
Cyprus	Mauritius	Thailand
Czech Republic	Moldova	The Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia
Denmark	Mongolia	Turkey
Estonia	Montenegro	Ukraine
Finland	Morocco	United Arab Emirates
France	Netherlands	United Kingdom
Georgia	Niger	Zimbabwe
Germany	Nigeria	European Communities
Ghana	Pakistan
Greece	Poland

2. REVISION OF THE CUSTOMS CONVENTIONS

The Annex 1 of CCC and the annex B.3 appendix II of Istanbul Convention used to be similar and set forth the provisions related to marking of containers to be granted to provision of the Conventions.
Important modifications of these annexes are enforced since 2008 and 2012 respectively.
The Conventions now stipulate that the identification code of owner or principal operator of container has to be registered as per standard ISO 6346.
The standard ISO 6346 makes provision for the registration of the identification code of the owner or principal operator with BIC in order to internationally protect the unicity of this code. Thus the obligation of the registration of this code with BIC which was a normative recommendation now becomes legally mandatory, and its effectiveness will be checked by the national customs administrations.
Default to this obligation will from now on be controlled by Customs, and containers which carry codes which will not meet this obligation will be subject to Customs stop and checking, which will hamper or even prevent the successful achievement of your transport operations, and may be refused the benefit of the free circulation granted through this Convention to containers used for international trade.
You may contact us (bic@bic-code.org) to get more information on this new development.
Besides, please note that according to another revision of the annexes, obligation to show the country of registration of the container, either in full or using the two letters alpha code provided for in ISO 3166, is withdrawn.
See below the effective modification implemented in the Conventions:

MODIFICATION of the Customs Conventions

PREVIOUS CCC AND ISTANBUL

Provisions concerning the marking of containers
1. The following information shall be durably marked in an appropriate and clearly visible place on containers;
(a) the identification of the owner or principal operator;
(b) the identification marks and numbers of the container, given by the owner or operator; and
(c) the tare weight of the container, including all its permanently fixed equipment.
2. The country to which the container belongs may be shown either in full, or by means of the ISO alpha-2 country code provided for in International Standard ISO 3166, or by the distinguishing sign used to indicate the country of registration of motor vehicles in international road traffic. Each country may subject the use of its name or distinguishing sign on the container to its national legislation. The identity of the owner or operator may be shown either by his full name or an established identification, symbols such as emblems or flags being excluded.

CCC AMENDED (Annex 1)

Provisions concerning the marking of containers
1. (Amended) The following information shall be durably marked in an appropriate and clearly visible place on containers in accordance with International Standard ISO 6346*:
(a) the identification of the owner or principal operator and the individual number and check digit of the container as given in ISO 6346 and its annexes;
(b) the tare weight of the container, including all its permanently fixed equipment.

2. (To be withdrawn)

 see extract of the ISO Standard No. 6346:1995*

ISTANBUL AMENDED (Annex B3 app II)

1. The following information shall be durably marked in an appropriate and clearly visible place on containers:
a) the identification of the owner or principal operator, wich may be shown either by his full name or by an established identification system, symbols such as emblems or flags being excluded;
b) the identification marks and numbers of the container, given by the owner or principal operator; and
c) the tare weight of the container, including all its permanently fixed equipment.
2. For freight containers generally considered for maritime use, or for any other container utilizing an ISO standard prefix (i.e. four capital letters ending in U), the identification of the owner or principal operator and the container serial number and check digit of the container shall adhere to the International Standard ISO 6346 and its annexes.

3. INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION FOR SAFE CONTAINERS (C.S.C.) Ed. 2014

Check BIC initiative on the publication of ACEP in the scope of the CSC as amended page 89

3.0. General

The international Convention for Safe Containers establishes criteria for the testing, inspection, approval, maintenance and control of containers. It is applicable to new and existing containers used in international transport, except to containers designed for air transport, in the following countries:

Afghanistan	Denmark	Korea Dem.	Russian federation
Angola	Estonia	People's Rep.	Saudi Arabia
Argentina	Finland	Korea, Republic of	Serbia
Australia	France	Latvia	Slovakia
Austria	Georgia	Lebanon	Slovenia
Bahamas	Germany	Liberia	South Africa
Barbados	Greece	Lithuania	Spain
Belarus	Guinea	Luxembourg	Sweden
Belgium	Guyana	Macao, China	Syria
Benin	Honduras	Marshall Islands	Tonga
Bolivia	Hong Kong, China	Mexico	Tunisia
Brazil	Hungary	Montenegro	Turkey
Bulgaria	Iceland	Morocco	Ukraine
Canada	India	Netherlands	Uruguay
Cape Verde	Indonesia	New Zealand	United Kingdom
Chile	Iran	Nigeria	United States
China	Israel	Norway	Vanuatau
Congo (Brazaville)	Italy	Pakistan	Venezuela
Croatia	Japan	Peru	Vietnam
Cuba	Jordan	Poland	Yemen
Cyprus	Kazakhstan	Portugal
Czech Republic	Kenya	Romania

The term "international transport" means transport between points of departure and destination situated in the territory of two countries to at least one of which the CSC applies.

The CSC applies when part of a transport operation between two countries takes place in the territory of a country to which the CSC applies.
The term "new container" means a container the construction of which was commenced on or after the date of entry into force of the Convention for safe containers.
The term "existing container" means a container which is not new.

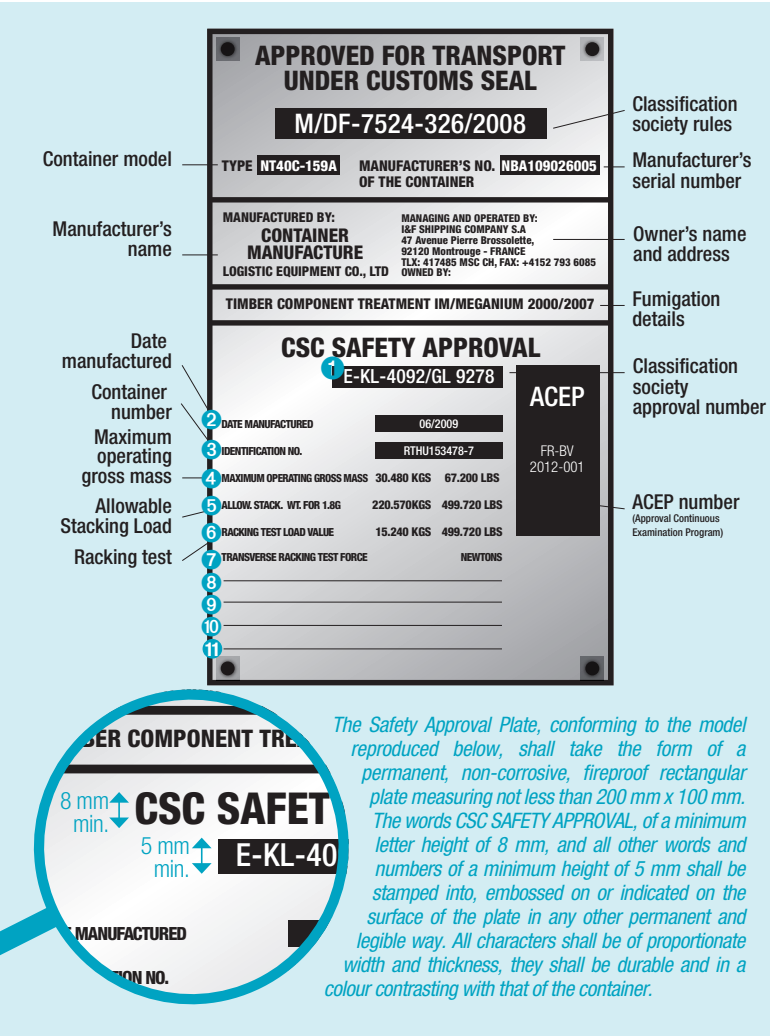
3.1. Approval

Application for approval shall be made to the Administration of any contracting country by
- the manufacturer, for new containers,
- the owner, for existing containers.

Any Administration may entrust testing, inspection and approval to any organization duly authorized by it.

3.2. Data Plate

Extract of the Convention for Safe Containers, Courtesy of IMO. The comprehensive text can be found on the IMO web store on www.imo.org
Mind: The quoted material may not be a complete and accurate version of the original material and the original may have subsequently been amended.



The Safety Approval Plate, conforming to the model reproduced below, shall take the form of a permanent, non-corrosive, fireproof rectangular plate measuring not less than 200 mm x 100 mm. The words CSC SAFETY APPROVAL, of a minimum letter height of 8 mm, and all other words and numbers of a minimum height of 5 mm shall be stamped into, embossed on or indicated on the surface of the plate in any other permanent and legible way. All characters shall be of proportionate width and thickness, they shall be durable and in a colour contrasting with that of the container.

1. Country of approval and approval reference as given in the example on line 1. (The country of approval should be indicated by means of the distinguishing sign used to indicate country of registration of motor vehicles in international road trafic.)
2. Date (month and year) of manufacture.
3. Manufacturer's identification number of the container or, in the case of existing containers for which that number is unknown, the number alloted by the Administration.
4. Maximum Operating Gross Mass (kg and lb)
5. Allowable Stacking Load for 1.8 g (kg and lb)
6. Transverse racking test force value (newtons)
7. End-wall streght to be indicated on plate only if end-walls are designed to withstand a force of less or greater than 0.4 times the gravitational force by maximum permissible payload, i.e. 0.4Pg
8. Side-wall strength to be indicated on plate only if the side-walls are designed to withstand a force of less or greater than 0.6 times the gravitational force by maximum permissible payload, i.e., 0.6P.
9. First maintenance examination date (month and year) for new containers and subsequent maintenance examination dates (month and year) if plate is used for this purpose.
10. One door off stacking strength to be indicated on plate only if the container is approved for one door off operation. The marking shall show: ALLOWABLE STACKING LOAD ONE DOOR OFF FOR 1.8 g (… kg … lb). This marking shall be displayed immediately near the stacking test value (see line 5).
11. One door off racking strength to be indicated on plate only if the container is approved for one door off operation. The marking shall show TRAVERSE RACKING TEST FORCE ONE DOOR OFF (… kg newtons). This marking shall be displayed immediately near the racking test value (see line 6).

4. TIR CUSTOMS CONVENTION

The TIR Convention permits to avoid payment or deposit of export and import duties and taxes at customs offices en route provided the transport operations are guaranteed by associations approved by competent national authorities and the goods are carried in containers or in other transport units such as road vehicles approved for the transport under customs seal. As a general rule, goods carried under the TIR procedure are not subject to examination at Customs offices en route, except when irregularity is suspected. Containers approved for the transport under Customs seal in accordance with the Customs Convention on Containers need not to be approved separately for the purpose of the TIR Convention. Otherwise an approval plate similar to that established by the Customs convention on containers must be obtained by the manufacturer.
The TIR convention is applicable in the following countries:

Afghanistan	European Communities	Lebanon	Serbia
Albania	Finland	Liberia	Slovakia
Algeria	France	Lithuania	Slovenia
Armenia	Georgia	Luxembourg	Spain
Austria	Germany	Macedonia	Sweden
Azerbaijan	Greece	Malta	Switzerland
Belarus	Hungary	Moldova	Syria
Belgium	Indonesia	Mongolia	Tajikistan
Bosnia and Herzegovina	Iran	Montenegro	Tunisia
Bulgaria	Ireland	Morocco	Turkey
Canada	Israel	Netherlands	Turkmenistan
Chile	Italy	Norway	Ukraine
Croatia	Jordan	Poland	United Arab Emirates
Cyprus	Kazakhstan	Portugal	United Kingdom
Czech Republic	Kuwait	Republic of Korea	United States
Denmark	Kyrgyzstan	Romania	Uruguay
Estonia	Latvia	Russian Federation	Uzbekistan

The TIR Convention is not applicable for containers.

5. INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION FOR STANDARDIZATION (ISO)

5.0. General

The International Organization for Standardization (ISO) is a worldwide federation of national standards institutes which develops international standards through its technical committees. International governmental and non-governmental organizations also take part in the work.
For the purpose of identifying containers, ISO has established and published:
- ISO 1496 Technical data on containers
- ISO 6346 Coding, identification and marking of containers

The complete text of ISO international standards may be obtained through the national member bodies of ISO of which the names and addresses are given in section 9.

5.1. Tank containers - identification and marking (ISO 1496 Part 3 Chapter 7)

The following data allowing tank identification shall be permanently marked by stamping, embossing or other means and shall not be painted so as to obscure the markings. No dimensions for characters are specified in the standard.

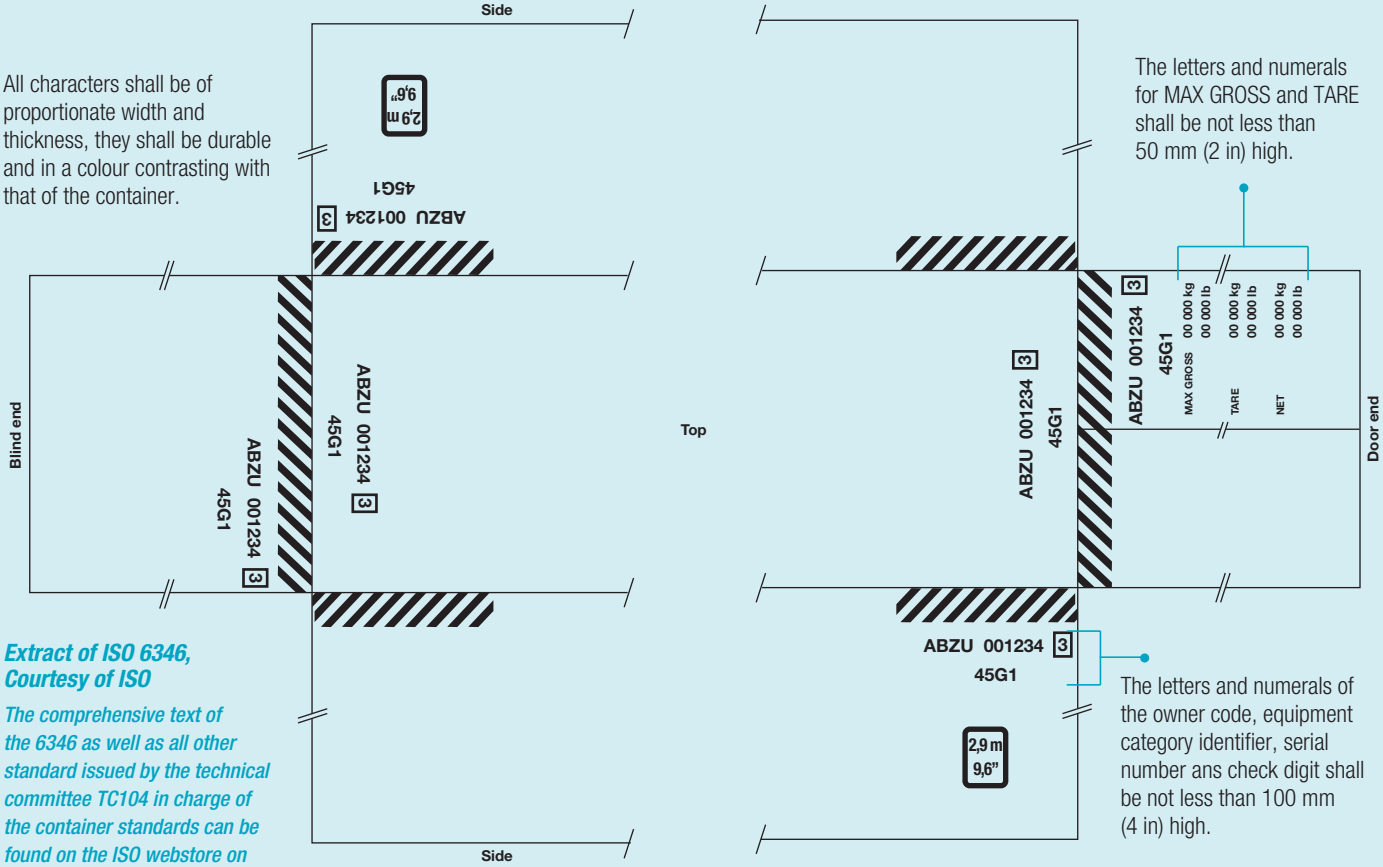
Type code designation
Date of original hydrostatic test	Year/Month
Test pressure	bars
Maximum allowable working pressure	bars
Total capacity	litres
Date periodic inspection and test	Year/Month

5.2. Coding, identification and marking of containers (ISO 6346)

Physical display of marks, size and colour of marks

All characters shall be of proportionate width and thickness, they shall be durable and in a colour contrasting with that of the container.

The letters and numerals for MAX GROSS and TARE shall be not less than 50 mm (2 in) high.

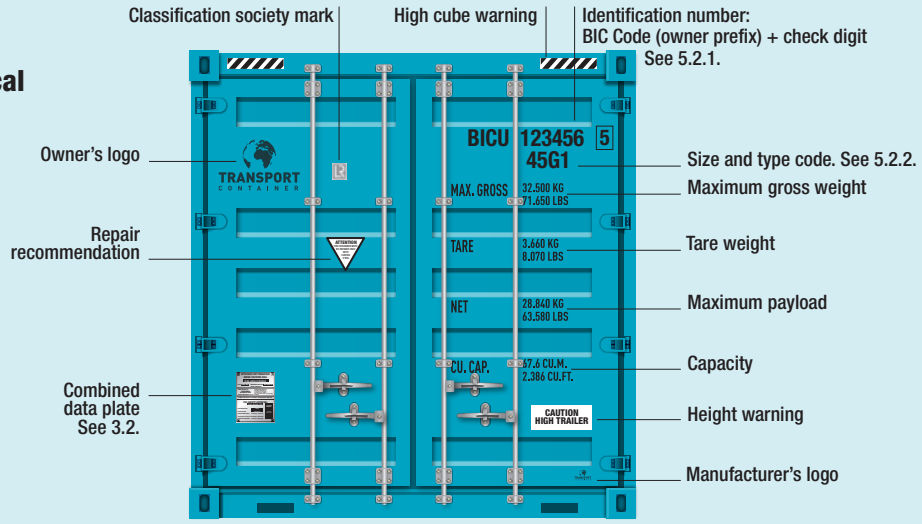


The letters and numerals of the owner code, equipment category identifier, serial number ans check digit shall be not less than 100 mm (4 in) high.

Extract of ISO 6346, Courtesy of ISO

The comprehensive text of the 6346 as well as all other standard issued by the technical committee TC104 in charge of the container standards can be found on the ISO webstore on www.iso.org

Focus on the physical display of door end



5.2.0. General

International Standard ISO 6346 establishes an identification system, a country code, a size and type code- operational marks which are described hereafter.

5.2.1. Identification system

The identification system provides uniform international identification of containers, in documentation and in communication associated with the movement of containers from door to door. It consists of:

- an owner code: three capital letters of the Latin alphabet to indicate the owner or principal operator of the container,
- an equipment category identifier which consists of one capital letter of the Latin alphabet as follows:
- U for all freight containers,
- J for detachable freight container-related equipment,
- Z for trailers and chassis,
- a serial number: six Arabic numerals, left at owner's or operator's option,
- a check digit: one Arabic numeral providing a means of validating the recording and transmission accuracies of the owner code and serial number.

For example, a container operated by BIC with a serial number of 123456 will have the following layout (vertical or horizontal):

Owner prefix	Equipment identifier	Serial number	Check digit
BIC	U	123456	5

For the layout of marking see above.

5.2.2 Size and type code

This information is mandatory.
When displayed on the container, the size and type codes shall be used as a whole.

A. Size code designation

The two alphanumeric characters used to designate the size code of the container are chosen as follows:
- first character, representing the length, in accordance with table 1;
- second character, representing the width and height, in accordance with table 2.

Table 1 - first SIZE-CODE character

See example on p. 9

Container length			Code character

B. Type code designation

ISO 6346 AMENDMENT 3

Warning: new container type code using an alpha character in the 4th position of the size-type code indicates a container of reduced strength. (See detailed type code 'b').

1. The following table gives the codes to identify the Container type and other characteristics related to its type, for the purpose of preparing container fleet/stock inventory or for exchange of operational data. The detailed type code list does not cover all the possible characteristics of any type of container. Indeed for some types, individual categories have not been listed at all, as it is considered that further detailed study is necessary before a satisfactory breakdown can be agreed.
2. Where alternative unassigned code numbers exist and where a code number is desired for a container having important characteristics not mentionned in the table below, it is recommended that the highest unassigned number in the appropriate block be used, pending further allocation of code numbers by the concerned ISO/TC 104 subcommittees.
3. Where other characteristics related to the container type are unspecified or unknown, the container type shall be identified by its group code as indicated in the column "Type group code designation".

▶2 ▶2 ▶UB = 22UB

A 20' open top container 8' wide and 8'6' high with reduced capabilities

5.2.3. Mandatory operational marks

Operational marks are intended solely to convey information requested for the movement of containers or to give visual warnings. They relate to
- the weight of containers,
- a sign warning of overhead electrical danger,
- a height mark for containers higher than 2,6 m (8 ft 6 in).

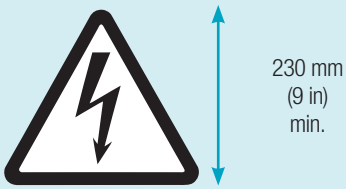
A. Maximum gross and tare mass

They shall be marked on containers in characters not less than 50 mm high as follows. The maximum gross mass shall be identical to that shown on the CSC approval plate. Some owners also indicate under the tare, the net weight available as payload.

MGM	00.000 kg 00.000 lb	50 mm min.
TARE	00.000 kg 00.000 lb	50 mm min.

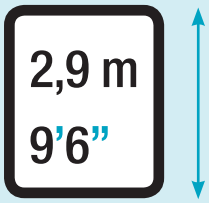
B. Sign warning of overhead electrical danger

The mandatory sign warning of overhead electrical danger for all containers equipped with ladders shall consist of a black symbol on a yellow background, surrounded by a black border (see example).
The height of the symbol (lightning flash) shall be a minimum of 175 mm (6,875 in).
The size of the warning sign, measured between the outside edges of the black border, shall be not less than 230 mm (9 in).
The mark shall be located in the area adjacent to the ladder.



C. Height marks for containers higher than 2,6 m (8 ft 6 in)

Mandatory height marks for containers higher than 2,6 m (8 ft 6 in) consist of sets of black figures on a yellow background, surrounded by a black border (see image).
The upper set of figures shall give the height, in metres, to one decimal place (0,1 m), but shall not indicate less than the actual height.
The lower set of figures shall give the height, in feet, to the nearest inch, but shall not indicate less than the actual height. To have space, the symbols ’ and ” are used instead of ft and in, respectively for feet and inches.
The size of the mark measured between the outside edges of the black border shall not be less than 115 mm x 155 mm (6 in x 4,5 in), and the size of the figures shall be as large as possible, consistent with the need for clarity.
The mark shall be displayed in two places on each container, i.e. near the right-hand edge of each side, at a distance of no more than 1,2 m (4 ft) from the top tof the container and within a distance of 0,6 m (2 ft) from the right-hand edge, below the identification number of the container.



155 mm
(4,5 in) min.

5.2.4. Quality of marking

ISO Standards do not provide rules for the quality of marking. Nevertheless it is recommended to mark the containers on the specified location by one of the following means:

A Transfer	B Painting	C Plastic film	D Laser

A. Transfer

Transfers consist of single colour letters and figures to be transferred to the permanent location on the container and having the following characteristics:

- thickness: 3 to 6/100
- adhesive: permanenta
- live: 5 to 7 years
- temperature range: - 50°C to + 100°C

B. Paint

The letters and figures shall be marked in contrasting colours to that used for the body of container by stencil-plates, using solvent, thinned paint consisting of insoluble pigment dispersed in linseed oil, or drying oils, natural resins or bitumen of a kind used in the manufacture of paints and enamels.
Liquid paint without solvent which the components react chemically together to form a film should not be used. Luminous paints and latex should not be used.
This marking should have a minimum exterior life of four years.

C. Plastic film

For identification marks and numbers on containers to be considered durably marked when plastic film is used, compliance with the following specification is required:

a) A high-quality adhesive shall be used. The film, once applied shall have a tensile strength lower than its final adhesion so that removal of the film without destroying it is impossible. Film produced by the cast method of production meets these requirements.
Film produced by the calender method of production shall not be used.

b) When identification marks and numbers have to be changed, the film to be replaced shall be removed completely prior to the affixing of the new film: placing of new film over an existing film shall not be permitted.

Identification markings offering the best guarantees of weather resistance and firmness of fixing are those having the following characteristics:
- facing surface: cast P.V.C. with a maximum thickness of 50 microns
- adhesive: with a permanent acrylic base ensuring a minimum exterior life of 5 years.

D. Laser marking

A permanent mark may also be produced by laser systems through removing or changing a microscopically thin layer of surface material. Where requested to ensure contrast with the body of the container, the marking should be completed by painting as per B above.

6. OTHER REQUIREMENTS

6.1. SOLAS Convention amendment (VGM)

The International Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea (chapter VI, Regulation 2, Paragraphs 4-6) has been amended to require the submission of the verified gross mass of containers prior to loading on board vessels. The regulation will go into effect on July 1st, 2017. After this date, shippers will be responsible for the submission of a verified gross mass to the ocean carrier and/or terminal in sufficient time to allow the use of the verified weight in the stowage planning of the vessel. The shipper is the party identified on the ocean carrier's bill of lading. Two methods of obtaining a verified gross mass are permitted:

Method 1: Weighing the packed container using calibrated and certified equipment

Method 2: Weighing all packages and cargo items, including the mass of pallets, dunnage and other securing material to be packed in the container and adding the tare mass of the container to the sum of the single masses, using a certified method approved by the competent authority of the State in which packing of the container was completed.

If the shipping document does not provide the verified gross mass, and the carrier or terminal have not obtained the verified gross mass of the packed container, the container shall not be loaded aboard the vessel.

All parties in the transport chain are urged to make the necessary preparations for this important new regulation. The full text of the amendment, and the associated guidelines can be found on the IMO website: www.imo.org

6.2. Dangerous goods

6.2.1. European Agreement Concerning the International Carriage of Dangerous Goods by Road (ADR) (1957) Ed. 2017

6.2.1.0. General

The ADR authorizes international transport of dangerous goods within Europe subject to compliance with the conditions laid down in:
Annex A, as regards their packaging and labeling,
Annex B, as regards the construction, equipment and operation of the vehicle carrying the dangerous goods.
The ADR is applicable in the following countries:

Albania	Finland	Moldova	Switzerland
Andorra	France	Montenegro	Tajikistan
Austria	Germany	Morocco	The former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia
Azerbaijan	Greece	Netherlands	Tunisia
Belarus	Hungary	Norway	Turkey
Belgium	Iceland	Poland	Ukraine
Bosnia and Herzegovina	Ireland	Portugal	United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland
Bulgaria	Italy	Romania
Croatia	Kazakhstan	Russian Federation
Cyprus	Latvia	Serbia
Czech Republic	Liechtenstein	Slovakia
Denmark	Lithuania	Slovenia
Estonia	Luxembourg	Spain
	Malta	Sweden

For the application of the ADR the following definitions apply (see chapter 1.1.2)
- The term "container" means an article of transport equipment (lift van, demountable tank or other similar structure);
- Of a permanent character and accordingly strong enough to be suitable for repeated use;
- Specially designed to facilitate the carriage of goods, by one or more means of transport, without break of load;
- Fitted with devices allowing its ready handling, particularly when being transloaded from one mean of transport to another
- So designed as to be easy to fill and empty
- Having an internal volume of not less than 1m³, except for container for the carriage of radioactive material.

In addition:
"Small container": a container which has an internal volume of not more than 3m³.
"Large container":
a. A container which does not meet the definition of a small container
b. In the meaning of the CSC, a container of a size such that the area enclosed by the four outer bottom corner is either:
(i) At least 14m² (150 square feet); or
(ii) At least 7m² (75 sq.ft) if fitted with top corner fittings.
"Closed container": a totally enclosed container having a rigid roof, rigid side walls, rigid end walls, and a floor. The term includes containers with an opening roof where the roof can be closed during transport;
"Open container": an open top container or a platform based container;
"Sheeted container": an open top container equipped with a sheet to protect the goods loaded.

Notes:
The term "container" does not cover conventional packaging, IBC's, tank containers, or vehicles. Nevertheless, a container may be used as a packaging for the carriage of radioactive material.
The term "Tank Container": an article of Transport equipment meeting the definition of a container, and comprising a shell and items of equipment, including the equipment itself to facilitate the movement of the tank container without significant change of attitude, used for the carriage of gases, liquid, powdery, or granular substances and, when used for the carriage of gases as defined in 2.2.2.1.1 of ADR, having a capacity of more than 0.45m³ (450 liters).

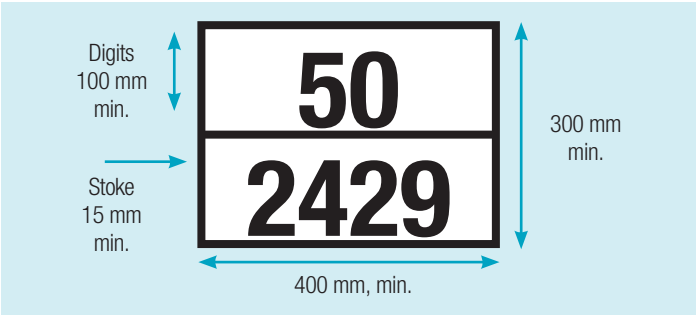
6.2.1.1 General purpose containers

See Chapter 5.3 of ADR: Placarding and Marking of Containers, MEGCs, %EMUs, Tank-containers, portable Tanks and vehicles.

General Provisions:
As and when required in this section, placards shall be affixed to the exterior surface of containers. Placards shall correspond to the label required in column (5) and, when appropriate, column (6) of Table A of Chapter 3.2 for the dangerous goods contained in the container, and shall conform to the specification given in 5.3.1.7. Placards shall be displayed on a background of contrasting colour, or shall have either a dotted or solid boundary line.

In addition: transport units carrying dangerous goods shall display two rectangular orange-colored plates conforming to 5.3.2.2.1 of ADR, set in a vertical plane. They shall be affixed one at the front and the other at the rear of the transport unit, both perpendiculars to the longitudinal axis of the transport unit.

The orange plate has a base of 400 mm and a high not less than 300 mm with a black border of not more than 15 mm wide. It shows in the upper part the hazard identification number and in the lower part the substance identification number in black digits 100 mm high and 15 mm stroke thickness separated by a horizontal black line of 15 mm in stroke width extending from side to side of the plate at mid height.



6.2.1.2. Tank containers

- Some Tank Container are only used under RID/ADR regime, and eventually "short sea traffic". In this case the applicable Chapters are 6.8 of RID and ADR and the equipment nominated as Tank Container instead or Portable Tank. In addition, with the Tank plate as described in 6.8.2.5, the tank should be marked with a Tank Coding (see 4.3.4 of RID/ADR for Class 1 and 3 to 9 Classes) Example: L4BN

L = Tank for substances in the liquid state
4 = Minimum calculation pressure (bar)
B = tank with bottom fitting or bottom discharge opening with 3 closures
N = tank without a breather device according to 6.8.2.2.6 and not hermetically closed.

- For tank container designed and built according to ADR, RID, IMDG, they are called "Portable Tank" and then, belong to 6.7 of ADR.
  Therefore the marking should conform to 6.7.2.20 of ADR.

UN Portable Tanks (see Chapter 6.7 of ADR, RID, IMDG)
Definition:
"Portable Tank": a multimodal tank having, when used for the carriage of gases as defined in ADR paragraph 2.2.2.1.1, a capacity of more than 450 liters in accordance with the definitions in Chapter 6.7 or the IMDG Code and indicated by a portable tank instruction (T-code), in column (10) of Table A of Chapter 3.2.

Marking

ADR	RID	IMDG
6.7.2.20 (class 1 and Classes 3 to 9)	6.7.2.20	6.7.2.20
6.7.3.16 (class 2)	6.7.2.20	6.7.2.20

Every portable tank shall be fitted with a corrosion resistant metal plate permanently attached to the portable tank in a conspicuous place readily accessible for inspection. When for reasons of portable tank arrangements, the plate cannot be marked with at least the information required by the pressure vessel code. As a minimum, at least the following information shall be marked on the plate by stamping or by any other similar method.

In addition to the plate, the following particular shall be durably marked either on the portable tank itself or on a metal plate firmly secured to the portable tank.
- Name of the operator
- Maximum Permissible gross mass (MPGM) _____kg
- Unloaded (tare) mass _____kg
- Portable Tank instruction in accordance with 4.2.5.2.6

Tank instruction ("T" code) can be found in the following document:

6.2.2. International Agreement concerning the International Carriage of Dangerous Goods by Rail (RID Ed. 2017)

6.2.2.0. General

The RID allows the international carriage of dangerous goods by rail subject to observance of the y conditions laid down in the "International Regulations concerning the carriage of goods by rail", which form Annex I to the "International Convention concerning the Carriage of Goods by Rail"(CIM).
The RID is applicable in the following countries:

Albania	Estonia	Lithuania	Slovakia
Algeria	Finland	Luxembourg	Slovenia
Armenia	France	Macedonia	Spain
Austria	Georgia	Monaco	Sweden
Azerbaijan	Germany	Montenegro	Switzerland
Belgium	Greece	Morocco	Syria
Bosnia & Herzegovina	Hungary	Netherlands	Tunisia

Definition:
Definition of "container" is identical to ADR (see 1.2.1)

RID application to containers is covered by the following definition:
"Containers shall be considered as coming within the scope of the RID providing they conform to the present Regulations (RID) and comply with the provisions of the RICo (Annex 5 to the CIM), if their capacity is equal to, or exceeds one cubic metre". The different RID provisions governing conveyance in wagons shall, by assignation, apply to transport by means of large containers, excluding tank containers.
The term "large container" applies tot devices with a capacity in excess of $3m^3$ and measuring 6 m (20 feet), or more, in length. Where small containers are concerned, reference should be made to the danger categories in point 2 "Conditions of carriage"- item D - of the RID.

6.2.2.1. General purpose containers - Identical to ADR

Inscriptions - Labeling - Markings
Procedures for inscriptions on,and labeling of large containers are identical to those used in the case of wagons (see RID, part 2, item D). Procedures for inscriptions on, and labeling of small containers are explained in part 2 - item D - of the RID.

6.2.2.2. Tank containers

See 6.2.1.2 RID is identical to ADR
Procedures for inscriptions on, and labeling of tank-containers are explained in part 2, item D of the RID.
Moreover, and solely for tank-containers, the permanent markings affixed must comply with the provisions in Annex X to the RID, point 1.6.

7. REGISTRATION PROCEDURES

7.1. Conditions of registration

For up-to-date Terms & Conditions please refer to :
www.bic-code.org/terms-and-conditions/

7.1.2. About the applicants

An application for the registration of a code can be sent through our website :
www.bic-code.org/bic-codes/bic-code-application-form/

Bureau International des Containers et du Transport Intermodal
41 rue Réaumur, 75003 Paris, France
Tel.: 33 (0)1 47 66 03 90 - Fax: 33 (0)1 47 66 08 91
bic@bic-code.org - www.bic-code.org

If you need to contact a local representation, NRO, a list of NROs accredited by BIC, stating the territories they cover, can be found in the BIC-Code Register published yearly (page xx), or on BIC web portal www.bic-code.org/about-us/nro-network/, or can be provided by contacting BIC head office in Paris.
The term "owner" includes a holder on lease or operator of containers provided such holder on lease or operator exercises full and exclusive control over the containers as if he were the actual owner.
Application shall be made by the owner or principal operator of containers to be marked with the said code.
Notwithstanding the above, a representative (e.g. maritime agent, forwarder, subsidiary company acting as operating company, container manufacturer, etc) may apply on behalf of the owner or principal operator if he is in position of testifying that:
- he is legally entitled to apply (through permanent delegation or an ad hoc proxy)
- the owner or principal operator has been duly made aware of the procedure and conditions of registration.

The BIC and its NROs reserve the right to check the authority of such representative.
The same applicant may ask for and obtain several codes if BIC considers the reasons submitted in writing to be satisfactory. One of such reasons may be the operation of ISO and non-ISO containers, or the acquisition of a container fleet in total.
A code may be reserved then registered by an applicant who does not at the moment own containers nor does mark its containers with the code applied for, provided the application is made with the bona fide intention of using the code applied for within a reasonable time limit.

7.1.3. Registration procedure

a) Application and choice of an available code
An application form containing the required information and declaration shall be filled in online, with a proposal of 3 preferred combinations of 3 letters. The acknowledgement of BIC will state which one among the choice of three letters combinations given has been reserved (but not yet registered). If none of them is available, the applicant shall be invited to submit new letter combinations.

b) Temporary reservation for payment of the registration fee
The applicant shall pay the registration charge (or transfer charge: see d) below) by bank transfer to BIC account or credit card. The registration charge (or transfer charge) has to be paid without delay: the reservation period, granted to allow the operations of payment, is limited to two weeks, after which the exclusive reservation is cancelled

c) Official registration and its consequences
Within one week after payment of the registration fee has been received, BIC shall issue a registration certificate. Its purpose is not to certify the ownership of containers but that the ISO 4-letter identification code has been allocated pursuant to ISO standard 6346. As a consequence:
- all related containers can be marked with the code as from the date of registration (and not before);
- the protection of the exclusive property of the code for international use is granted by BIC to the code holder. In case of an unauthorised use of a code by another company, the code holder is invited to inform BIC and provide it with all available information in order BIC may intervene;

- each container marked with a code _ _ _ U is officially and worldwide known to be owned - or operated (see 7.1.2) - by the code holder as registered in BIC's data base, with all the related responsibilities (legal, commercial, damage, insurance, etc.) of such property;

In case of a transfer of ownership of such container(s), the above-mentioned responsibility will remain taken on by the code holder until the moment where:
- the code marking is erased from the container(s), or
- the code marking is changed for another one - duly registered by BIC and held by the new owner or principal operator (see 7.1.7),
or
- the code marking remains unchanged but with a duly registered new code holder (see 7.1.3.d below).

d) Individual case: transfer of a valid code
It may occur that the totality of a fleet of containers is transferred from a previous owner or principal operator "A" to a new owner or principal operator "B". This may be the case, for example, with a specific purchase of such fleet, or through a global transfer of the assets of the company A (e.g.: merger, purchase of the company, etc.).

To display the change of ownership of the fleet of containers, the new owner or principal operator B may then wish to register a new code (or possibly use a code it already owns), but in such case it would have to re-mark all the containers: this would be a long and costly process.

In order to avoid such trouble to the new owner or principal operator, BIC allows both the former and the new owner or principal operator to apply for an immediate transfer of the related code from the one to the other, by exception to the general rule of a safety period of ten (10) years as mentioned hereafter in 8.1.6.

7.1.4. Yearly renewal of registration
The registration of a code has to be confirmed each year. A renewal fee is payable for each calendar year subsequent to the year of registration.
The tariff is published yearly in the BIC-Code Register and on our website (www.bic-code.org) and available upon request near BIC head office.

7.1.5. Publishing the codes
A paper publication of registered codes with the names and addresses of their holders is published on a yearly basis under the name of "CONTAINERS BIC-CODE REGISTER".
A live database of the valid codes, is also available on BIC portal (www.bic-code.org), as well as a list of codes registered during the past twelve months and a list of codes cancelled during the past thirty months.
One paper copy of BIC-Code register will be supplied each year free of charge to all code holders.
A code holder may, if he desires so, have complementary information published in the BIC-Code Register (Addresses of branch offices for example).
The tariff is published yearly in the CONTAINERS BIC-CODE REGISTER issue and is available upon request near BIC head office.

7.1.6. Cancellation
The BIC shall cancel the registration of a code (and remove it from the BIC-Code Register):
a) when requested so to do by the owner or principal operator, or by the NRO for the territory in which the owner or principal operator has his principal place of business,
b) following a ruling by a duly appointed arbitrator,
c) when the yearly renewal fee has not been paid.

A cancelled code will not be available for a new registration before a safety period of ten (10) years has passed.
The BIC or the NRO involved may request any owner or principal operator as defined in art 7.1.2 here before to declare in writing whether or not all internationally circulating containers of which he is the owner or principal operator have been marked with the registered code. In the absence of such a declaration within six months the code may be cancelled.

7.1.7. Warning
The BIC does not monitor code-holders or their activities, nor confirm the existence of containers claimed to be owned, operated or managed by code-holders. Attribution of a prefix to a container owner / operator by the BIC does not guarantee the financial soundness of code-holders nor imply any endorsement whatsoever by the BIC of said code-holders or of their commercial or financial activities.
The BIC has no involvement whatsoever in the sale or lease of containers. The BIC declines all liability related to the sale or lease of containers, the worthiness of containers, or for a failure by any party to neutralize and/or re-mark containers upon sale.
The BIC declines all liability for damages directly or indirectly resulting from the cancellation of a code for non-payment of the renewal fee.

7.1.8. About disputes
As soon as it comes to his knowledge that his right to any code applied for, or reserved, or registered in his name, is disputed or contested in any way, the applicant shall furnish to BIC full information relevant to the case.
If a dispute concerns a reserved code, the NRO and BIC may keep the final registration in abeyance until the dispute has been resolved.
The reservation shall remain valid under certain conditions.
Where such dispute between two applicants cannot be settled by agreement, it shall be referred to arbitration under the Rules of Conciliation and Arbitration of the International Chamber of Commerce by a single arbitrator and the applicants expressly agrees to accept and abide by the decision of such arbitrator.
In the case of a dispute between an applicant and BIC or an NRO, the same procedure shall apply.

7.1.9.
To the extent to where anything herein contained may in any particular case be inconsistent with law, but not further or otherwise, these conditions shall be null and void.

7.2. Check digit service

BICU 123456 5

The standard for marking and coding of containers (ISO 6346) defines the container identification number structure as being composed of :
▶ 4 LETTERS
Three letters for the container owner prefix
One letter for the equipment identifier (U for container)
i.e. "BICU" in the example above
▶ 6 NUMERALS
To identify each container
This number is freely allocated by the containers operators i.e. "123456" in the example above
▶ 1 NUMERAL
This last numeral is called the "check digit" (i.e. "5" in the example above)

This number is not allocated freely, but is result of a calculation taking into account the weight and position of all preceding 4 letters and 6 numerals.
It is used by IT systems to check the consistency of the container numbers which are captured manually with the resulting risk of typing mistakes.
This calculation called "modulus 11" is precisely described in the standard ISO 6346.

However, it's a cumbersome task to calculate the check digit of each and every containers, so BIC offers an online module on its website to support this calculation (see www.bic-code.org/calculate-the-check-digit-online.html), and is available for support case being (bic@bic-code.org)
BIC also offers, against a corresponding fee, to make the calculation. See section 7.3.6.
The tariff is published yearly in the BIC-Code Register and on our website (www.bic code.org) and available upon request near BIC head office.
Check digit calculation modules can be found on the web under excel format as well.

7.3. Schedule of charges

7.3.1. General
All charges are due upon receipt of invoice and may be paid by wire transfer (net of all bank charges), cheque or credit card.
The price schedule is expressed in Euros (EUR), but fees can also be invoiced and paid in US Dollars (USD) upon request of the applicant. In case of cancellation of a code, the yearly renewal charge for the year of cancellation remains due.

7.3.2. Membership fee
- Ordinary ..... 46 €
- Active ..... 460 €

7.3.3. International protection

- Registration of Code, (including one certificate), per code ..... 2 000 €
- Additional Certificates each ..... 165 €
- Renewal fee, per calendar year ..... 475 €
- Transfer of code, per code (one or first code) ..... 2 000 €
- Transfer of code, following code if several, per code ..... 475 €

Special conditions for BIC's "Active members"

- Renewal fee (max three codes per share) per calendar year ..... 0 €
- Renewal fee, (additional code, per code) per calendar year ..... 238 €
- Transfer of code, per code (one or first code) ..... 1 000 €
- Transfer of code, following code if several, per code ..... 0 €
- New code for active member ..... 1 000 €

7.3.4. Containers BIC-Code Register

One free copy of the annual register is sent to the main address of each member upon publication.
Additional copy, surface postage included ..... 30 €

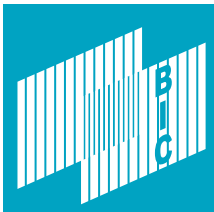
7.4. Amendements to BIC-Code Register

In its annual issue, BIC not only publishes new internationally protected codes but endeavours to update information on codes published in previous issues.
In order to make such edition as effective as possible it is essential that container owner or principal operators keep BIC informed of any amendment to the data previously provided. Please contact us at:



Bureau International des Containers et du Transport Intermodal

41 rue Réaumur, 75003 Paris, France
Tel.: 33 (0)1 47 66 03 90 - Fax: 33 (0)1 47 66 08 91
bic@bic-code.org - www.bic-code.org

Caution!
The default of payment of the yearly renewal fee automatically entails cancellation of the Code.
Therefore it is of utmost importance to advise BIC about any change in your address.

7.5. How to register a BIC-Code

First be sure that you are well aware of the BIC-Code system (see chapter 5) and our conditions of registration (see 7.1).

7.5.1. Registration of a new code

- Please fill-out the online application form on our website: www.bic-code.org/bic-codes/bic-code-application-form/
- You will receive, via e-mail, your completed application for verification. You must sign and stamp the form and return it to the BIC via e-mail or fax.
- Once your application has been approved, you will receive the invoice for the registration charge.
- Upon payment of the invoice, your registration certificate will be mailed to you. Only upon issuance of the registration certificate may you begin marking containers.

Important note
The form must clearly indicate the name and position of the signatory, who must be a person authorized to engage the applying company under the registration terms. The application process, although generally completed within 3 business days, can take longer in some cases. We advise beginning the process a minimum of one month before container marking is to begin.

Validity of Registration
Registration certificates are valid for the calendar year of issuance (special conditions apply for registrations late in the year).
A new certificate will be issued each year upon reception of payment of the yearly protection charge, which is billed in January of each year.

7.5.2. Transfer of a valid code (see Registration procedure, 7.1.3.d)

Both companies are required to notice immediately BIC, separately or jointly of such transfer.
BIC will then check with each party the validity of the agreement.
If everything is alright, BIC will cancel the registration of the present holder (company A) for the related code and will immediately transfer its registration to the new holder (company B),
In order to avoid any possible legal, juridical or commercial trouble linked with the liability of a code holder company, BIC strongly recommends that the present holder of the code contacts BIC in advance, before establishing the formal documents of transfer of property:
BIC may thus help to fill the transfer documents taking into consideration the code holders' liability and initiate the checking investigations; this will result in a safer and quicker procedure of transfer of the code. The new holder will have to fill-in the form online: www.bic-code.org/bic-codes/bic-code-application-form/

7.5.3. Request for amendment

Caution!
It is of the utmost importance that the BIC is notified promptly of any changes to the code registration details.

Privilege online registration:
www.bic-code.org

ISO Standard 9897 appointed the BIC as the official Registration Authority of the LoCodes – the official 9-digit party and location code used to identify terminals, depots and other facilities and entities in the transportation industry.

LOCODES DATABASE

Consult the newly enhanced database from either desktop or smartphone on www.bic-code.org

The LoCodes Database contains over 3 400 codes, identifying facilities in over 85 countries.

If your vendor or facility does not already have an official LoCode, please contact the BIC to obtain a unique code

8. THE BIC, THE OFFICIAL REGISTER OF INTERNATIONALLY PROTECTED ISO IDENTIFICATION ALPHA-CODES FOR IDENTIFICATION OF CONTAINER OWNERS

At the origin of containerization, the marking of containers was left at operator's option, and confusion arose soon from the various systems developed independently.
In late 60's, a working group of Technical Committee 104 (TC 104) of the International Organization for Standardization began to work on an international standard for the marking of freight containers.

During this process, it was recognized that ideally the system should provide every container with a single identity and that owner or principal operator codes should be allocated at a national level. To avoid any duplication a country code was incorporated in the marking.

Container operators acting at the international level saw shortcomings in such a system and sought for a solution that would allow to owners or principal operators to get a code which remains unique worldwide.

BIC offered to provide such a service in conjunction with National Registration Organizations acting as local representatives (see NROs on www.bic-code.org).

Finally ISO adopted International Standard ISO/DIS 2716 in April 1972 which became ISO/6346 in 1981.

(last updated in 1995: "ISO 6346:1995").

This International Standard provides:

1) As the identification system of each container, the following elements (all of which shall be included):

- a four character alpha code consisting of owner/operator code of 3 letters , and an equipment identifier "U" as fourth letter for all freight containers (1);
- a serial number of 6 Arabic numerals (2);
- a seventh digit (check digit) providing a means of validating the recording and/or transmission accuracy of the data.

Example

BICU	123456	5
(Owners code with the equipment identifier)	(Serial number)	(Check digit)

Notes:
(1) Other equipment identifiers included in ISO 6346 are "J" for detachable freight container-related equipment and "Z" for container-related trailers and chassis.
(2) please kindly note that BIC does not register the 6 serial numbers, which are left to the owner/operator's choice (as long as it ensures that each number is allocated only once).

2) Other descriptive marks as:

- a size and type code (mandatory) consisting of four alphanumeric characters,

- operational marks for gross and tare masses (mandatory), heights, etc. (mandatory or optional), country code (optional).

International Standard ISO 6346 also states that in order that owner or principal operator codes be unique, it is necessary for all codes to be registered with the BIC (Bureau International des Containers). In principle the allocation of codes is restricted to one per operator or owner. However BIC may allocate several codes on request of an applicant if it considers that the reasons given in writing by the applicant are satisfactory.

As a consequence the BIC maintains and updates the BIC-Code, a register protecting all international codes from AAA(U) to ZZZ(U). This register which is the only official application of the ISO standard was discussed at and endorsed by the July 1971 meeting of ISO/TC 104/WG3 held in Paris, France.

The authority of the register so established depends upon its voluntary acceptance by the interested parties: more than 1700 in 120 countries. Since its publication by ISO as an international standard it has also been adopted by:
- the World Customs Organization;
- the International Maritime Organization;
- the International Chamber of Shipping;
- the International Road Union (IRU);
- the Union Internationale des Chemins de Fer (UIC);
- the International Federation of International Furniture Removers (FIDI);
- the International Air Transport Association (IATA) only for ISO air-surface containers.

BIC has a permanent liaison status with the International Organization for Standardization Technical Committee 104 (ISO/TC 104: Freight Containers) and its various subcommittees, especially SC4: identification and communication.

The following codes shall not be assigned:
BICU, IIIU, IRUU, ISOU,OOOU, XXXU, YYYU, ZZZU, COAU, WCOU, IMOU.

Important!

In order to eliminate duplication in the international coding system any owner or principal operator of a protected CODE should immediately report to the BIC Secretariat any misuse of his own code together with the name and address of the unauthorized user and the circumstances in which the fact was discovered.

U, Z and J equipment identifiers.
It has become common practice to list all prefixes using 'U' as the fourth letter. Note however that the owner prefix has three letters. The fourth letter, as defined in the ISO standard 6346 is the equipment identifier and can be either 'U' for containers, 'Z' for chassis or 'J' for accessories.
Container owner/principal operators to whom a prefix has been attributed by the BIC can use the prefix to mark all of their equipment, utilizing the relevant equipment identifier. No additional registration is required.

Introducing the Global ACEP Database

A new IMO requirement: ACEP Visibility
A new BIC service: The Global ACEP Database

www.bic-acep.org

- Provides global visibility of valid ACEP's – anytime, anywhere
- Supports new IMO requirement that each country make its ACEP numbers publicly available
- Allows operators to monitor upcoming audit and expiration dates – now required by the IMO
- Promotes safety and operational efficiency in the industry

ACEP FAQs

1. What is ACEP?

ACEP stands for Approved Continuous Examination Program. An alternative to the Periodic Examination Scheme, the ACEP allows a more flexible plan to operators who demonstrate that each container is inspected regularly as part of normal operations. ACEPs are issued by National Administrations (or their appointed representatives) to container owners and operators meeting certain requirements. The regulations covering ACEP are found in the IMO Convention for Safe Containers (1972) as amended and are addressed by the IMO Sub-Committee on the Carriage of Cargo and Container (CCC), under authority of the Maritime Safety Committee (MSC).

2. What is the new requirement?

In 2010 the CSC was amended to require that ACEPs be reviewed every 10 years. Along with this change came a requirement for periodic audits as well as the new requirement that National Administrations make their valid ACEP numbers publicly available.

3. Why a Global Database?

With the new requirement came a new challenge: How to make the information readily accessible and available to the public if each and every country were to publish its own individual list somewhere on its own government website? The BIC, with the support of the IMO, created a database to allow the posting of all ACEP numbers on a single, global database, thus ensuring the information would be always available and easy to find.

4. Why the BIC?

As a neutral, international NGO focused on the intermodal container industry, the BIC is the ideal organization to perform such a service on behalf of the IMO. Moreover, the BIC has the experience and infrastructure in place already, given its role since 1972 as the industry's global container prefix registry – a service it performs under a mandate from the ISO and which is enforced by international Customs Conventions.

5. Why is this important?

Safety: In intermodal transportation containers are interchanged constantly: Carriers, terminals and truckers regularly accept containers belonging to many different parties – including operators that may be unfamiliar. Containers are bought, leased, sub-leased and moved on SOC basis. Knowing that each container is operated under a valid inspection plan helps ensure the safety of shipboard and shore-side personnel, as well as the general public.

Operations: A Global Database allows for rapid consultation of ACEPs – anywhere in the world. The CSC allows a container operated by an operator with a valid ACEP to continue its current voyage, even if the ACEP number decal is missing from the container. Allowing officers an easy way to verify validity helps avoid unnecessary delays. The Database also provides automated reminders to ensure that Operators and Authorities complete ACEP renewals on a timely basis.

6. What if my ACEP is not listed?

The Database is fully operational and available for all countries to post their ACEPs in order to comply with the CSC's publication requirement. If you do not see your ACEP listed in the database, you can contact the administration in charge in your country (see IMO circular 149 which can be provided upon request).

7. When will the Global ACEP Database be truly "global"?

The Global ACEP Database is endorsed by the IMO's Maritime Safety Committee, and all Administrations have been encouraged to utilize the database in fulfilling their publication requirement. They have, however, allowed the possibility for Administrations to publish elsewhere should they wish. The MSC is expected to approve a new CSC Circular (submitted for approval by CCC) in May 2016 that will indicate, for reporting countries, whether or not the country has published ACEPs and where the information may be found.

The Global ACEP Database can be consulted at www.bic-acep.org

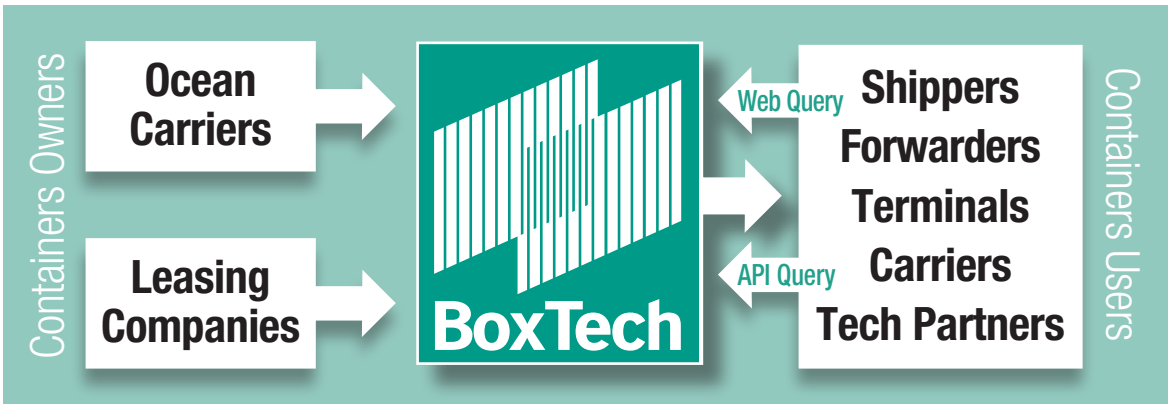
Automation - Efficiency - Safety

What is BoxTech ?

The BoxTech Global Container Database is a neutral, centralized data repository providing container owners and users a platform to easily exchange container fleet technical details. BoxTech provides an easy-to-access source of container characteristics to help support carriers, shippers, forwarders and other stakeholders in the supply chain.

Digitalization, enabled

BoxTech allows shippers, forwarders and other stakeholders to access a single database, eliminating the need to manually search for container characteristics in multiple locations. BoxTech can be easily accessed via API for instant data access.



Technical Details Shared

BoxTech allows for the complete set of container details:

- Container number
- Size-type code
- Tare weight
- Maximum gross mass
- Maximum payload
- and more

New tools 2018!

- Container sold/scrapped update and warnings for improved safety
- Container status and recovery alerts
- Container owner fleet updates via API
- Expanded data access APIs

Benefits

- Users enjoy fast, automated access to reliable equipment data from a single location.
- Efficiency in complying with the SOLAS Verified Gross Mass (VGM) declaration requirement.
- Avoid phone calls and emails staff will otherwise have to initiate/answer about tare weight, size and type, payload, etc.
- A non-profit service operated by the BIC.
- APIs available for both container fleet upload and data queries. Shippers and other parties can ping BoxTech to have technical details loaded directly into their systems where the information is needed.

BoxTech is operated by the BIC – a non-profit organization serving the container transportation industry. Founded in 1933, the BIC has been the international container owner code registration authority since 1972.
