Description (I)

Description of the SMDG Liner Code List (LCL)

The SMDG Liner Code List consists of unique codes for shipping companies in the container liner business.

1. Purpose and Scope of the LCL

- a) The codes in this list identify vessel operators, VSA partner lines, slot charterers or container operators in maritime transport. This includes Vessel Operating Common Carriers (VOCC) and Non-Vessel Operating Common Carriers (NVOCC). Container leasing companies are not included in this list.
- b) Wherever subsidiary branches are listed, their parent company is also indicated (if part of the list).
- c) The codes in SMDG Liner Codes List are intended primarily for use in Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) messages to unambiguously identify a liner shipping company wherever this information is needed in the transport chain. EDI is to be understood in a broad sense and includes (but is not limited to) formats/technologies such as EDIFACT, ANSI X12, XML and Web API).

2. Liner codes

- a) A liner code is a unique 3-letter code
- b) The liner code resembles the logo of the company or its container prefixes as far as possible.

Navigation bar with the following elements from left to right: a left arrow, a right arrow, the text 'v20220506', the text 'Change Log', the text 'Description' (highlighted in green), a plus sign icon, a vertical ellipsis icon, and a search input field with a left arrow.

Description (II)

3. Information provided in the LCL

Code: unique code for a shipping line.

Company Name: name of the shipping line company

Parent company: Parent company name of a subsidiary company. The parent company is only listed if the inclusion rules for this list apply and it is also listed here.

NVOCC: identification of a non-vessel operating common carrier, if known

Company website: usually the website of the company itself or of its parent company.

Company address: the postal address of the shipping lines' headquarter

Remarks: additional information about the company

4. Liner Codes in EDIFACT messages

The Liner Code is typically used in NAD and TDT segments of EDIFACT messages.

These are:

e3039 (party identification) in the NAD segment

e3127 (carrier identification) in the TDT segment

The use of SMDG-related codes in elements 1131 and 3055 is explained in SMDG Recommendation #07 ("Usage of Code Lists in EDIFACT Messages maintained by SMDG").

For example, the identification of the container operator Hapag Lloyd would be conveyed as:

NAD+CF+HLC: LINES: 306 ' (versions D.00B and later)

NAD+CF+HLC: LIN: 306 ' (versions prior to D.00B, where element 1131 is limited to three characters)

The identification of the carrier of a Hapag Lloyd vessel would be conveyed as:

TDT+20+022E+1++HLC: LINES: 306+++9525857: :54:UMM SALAL ' (versions D.00B and later)

TDT+20+022E+1++HLC: LIN: 306+++9525857: :54:UMM SALAL ' (versions before D.00B)

Examples (D.00B)

Container operator:

NAD+CF+ CMA:LINE:306

Vessel operator:

TDT+20+022E+1++HLC:LINE:306+++9525857::54:UMM SALAL'

Thank You
